NEW-YORK, May 8.

Extract of a letter from Chester Town, (Maryland) April 28, 1802.

+ "An instance of voluntary abstinence has lately taken place, perhaps unparalleled. An insane person, named Horatio Seney, of Church Hill, in Queen Anne's county, Maryland, a few days ago completed a Fast of forty-four days! being determined (as he frequently declared) to out-fast our Blessed Saviour.

"During this whole period, he suffered nothing to pass his lips but pure water:—No persuasion whatever could prevail on him to mix milk with it. Meat, bread, &c. were repeatedly put in his way, that he might take it by stealth—it remained untouched.

On the morning of the 45th day he broke his fast by eating one perch and two mouth-fulls of honey—observing, that as his last meal was fish, his first should be the same.—After this, in going to the door he fell down—was taken up & put to bed; the next day he took half a cup of coffee, and a small biscuit, which was the last food he partook of. A short time after this, perhaps one hour, he expired.

"During this wonderful fast, he rode about as usual, exhibiting a most horrid spectacle—his bones nearly thro' his skin, his lips shrunk so as to discover his teeth & gums complete. He was perfectly harmless, never having injured any one: he was therefore suffered to go at large. He was also remarkable for a retentive memory."
